Introduction

The National Child Abuse and Neglect Data System (NCANDS) is an initiative of the Children’s Bureau in the Administration on Children, Youth and Families, the Administration for Children and Families within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). NCANDS was established as a voluntary, national data collection and reporting system to comply with 1988 Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (CAPTA) amendments.

During 1996, CAPTA was amended again to require all states that receive funds from the Basic State Grant program to work with the Secretary of HHS to provide specific data, to the extent practicable, about children who had been maltreated. These data elements were incorporated into NCANDS. CAPTA was most recently reauthorized and amended during December 2010. The CAPTA Reauthorization Act of 2010 added new data collection requirements, which were subsequently added to NCANDS.

NCANDS data are published annually in the Child Maltreatment report. The most recent edition and other reports dating back to 1995 are available on the Children’s Bureau website at <http://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/cb/research-data-technology/statistics-research/child-maltreatment>

A successful federal-state partnership is the core component of NCANDS. Each state designates one person to be an NCANDS state contact. The NCANDS state contacts from all 52 states work with the Children’s Bureau and the NCANDS Technical Team to uphold the high-quality standards associated with NCANDS data. Webinars, technical bulletins, virtual meetings, email, and phone conferences are used regularly to facilitate information sharing and provision of technical assistance.

Reporting Year

The NCANDS reporting year is based on the federal fiscal year (FFY), or October 1 through the following September 30.

Reporting States

The 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico submit data to NCANDS. In NCANDS, these reporting entities are referred to as the “52 states.”

Data Submissions

The 52 states in NCANDS submit two data files each year:

- Child File contains case-level data
- Agency File contains aggregate-level data

In prior years, states that were not able to submit case-level data in the Child File submitted an aggregate data file called the Summary Data Component (SDC). Because all states now have the capacity to submit case-level data, the SDC was discontinued as of the 2012 data collection.

Overview of the NCANDS Data Collection and Submission Cycle

States submit case-level data by constructing an electronic file of child-specific records for each report of alleged child abuse and neglect that received a CPS response. Each state's file only includes completed reports that resulted in a disposition (or finding) as an outcome of the CPS response during the reporting year. The data submission containing these case-level data is called the Child File.

The Child File is supplemented by agency-level aggregate statistics in a separate data submission called the Agency File. The Agency File contains data that are not reportable at the child-specific level and are often gathered from agencies external to CPS. States are asked to submit both the Child File and the Agency File each year.

Upon receipt of data from each state, a technical validation review is conducted to assess the internal consistency of the data and to identify probable causes for missing data. In some instances, the reviews concluded that corrections were necessary and the state was requested to resubmit its data. Once a state's case-level data are finalized, counts are computed and shared with the state. The Agency File data also are subjected to various logic and consistency checks.

Overview of the Agency File Record

Aggregated data from for the Agency File are submitted electronically online. The automated aggregate data collection capability is referred to as the AgencySDC System. It enables the state to enter, review, comment upon, and save the data directly on the NCANDS Portal. A complete list of the data elements within of the Agency File record layout can be found in Appendix A Agency File Record Layout. All of the data elements in the record are grouped into these data sections:

- Section 1. Preventive Services (fields 1.1–1.2) contains data on recipients of preventive services by various funding sources. For each funding source, the number of children and the number of families is requested. The two possibilities are provided because some programs report by family and other report by child. However the counts should not overlap.
- Section 2. Additional Information on Referrals and Reports (fields 2.1–2.5) includes information on the number of referrals and children with child abuse and neglect allegations, but the referrals were screened out prior to being referred for investigation or assessment. This section also collects data about response time with respect to the initial investigation or assessment, workforce, and caseload.
- Section 3. Additional Information on Child Victims Reported in the Child File (fields 3.1–3.5) contains data about family preservation and reunification services, and out of court contacts for victims reported in the Child File.

- Section 4. Information on Child Fatalities Not Reported in the Child File (fields 4.1–4.4) contains data for maltreatment deaths that are not already reported in the Child File, this includes maltreatment deaths that occurred in foster care, after family preservation services, and after family reunification services.
- Section 5. IDEA Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (fields 5.1–5.2) includes data for children eligible for referral and children referred to agencies providing early intervention services under Part C of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

A unique count of the number of victims eligible for referral to agencies providing early intervention services under Part C of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Instructions:

Enter the number of unique child victims (substantiated, indicated, or alternative response victim) under age 3 reported in the current Child File submission who are eligible for referral to agencies providing early intervention services under Part C of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. Explain in the state commentary the process for screening and referring these children. This number must be greater than zero. Leave blank if data are not collected and provide an explanatory comment.

The Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (CAPTA), as amended by the CAPTA Reauthorization Act of 2010 (P.L. 111–320) in section 5106a (d)(16) asks for: The number of children determined to be eligible for referral, and the number of children referred, under subsection (b)(2)(B)(xxi), to agencies providing early intervention services under part C of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1431 et seq.).

Guidance from the Children’s Bureau on collecting these data is as follows: CAPTA does not specifically require that every child younger than 3 years old who is involved in a substantiated case of child abuse or neglect must be referred to Part C services. Therefore, states have the discretion as to whether to refer every such child younger than 3 years for early intervention services, or to first employ a screening process to determine whether a referral is needed. It is up to the state to determine how children referenced in section 106(b)(2)(B)(xxi) of CAPTA will be screened and, if appropriate, referred to the Part C early intervention program in the state.
